Foreign Literature
No. 54 (2005)

[Papers]

Biiichi IIZUKA: The Whole Story behind the Publishing of Following the Equator, Mark Twain’s Last Travel Book ........................................... 1
Masahiro ISHIHAMA Tsukasa SATO: The Use of Multi-media for University Education (III) .......... 15
Shogo KASHIWASE: The Vitality of Australian Spoken English:
A Story of Living Words ........................................................................ 35
Michiko KAMADA: Teaching of Japanese Writing for Presentation of the International Students in Undergraduate Courses ....................................... 53
Michiko KAMADA: Japanese Language Education for Foreign Schoolchildren in Tochigi Prefecture .................................................................. 67
Yuji KUJIRAI: Jean Starobinski on André Chénier (2) ...................................... 91
Seiji KOIKE: Is Makuranososhi a Rival of Shiki? ........................................ 101
Sumio TAKAGIWA: Joseph Addison’s Relationship with Music in His Early Years ...................................................................................... 117
Hideaki HATAYAMA: The Blanks in Paul D’s Life (I):
A Study on Toni Morrison’s Beloved ................................................................ 135
Shunsuke WAKAYAMA: A Short History of German Popular Music (1) ............ 143
Naoki WATANABE: The Literature and Critical Theories of the Romantics:
Friedrich Schlegel’s Über Lessing .................................................................. 157

[Translation]

Nathaniel West, The Dream Life of Balso Snell, No.4.
Translated by Hideaki HATAYAMA ................................................................ 1